

International Conference: Phenomenology of Medicine and Bioethics
June 13-15th, 2018, at Ersta Conference Centre, Erstagatan 1K, Stockholm

Keynote lectures take place in room: Bringsalen

Parallel sessions 1, 3, 5, 7 and 9 take place in room: Bringsalen

Parallel sessions 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10 take place in room: Holmqvistrummet

Wednesday, June 13th

1:00-1:15pm

Opening Words and Practicalities

1:15-2.30pm

Keynote A: Reflections on the Aspiration to a Phenomenological Bioethics

-Erik Parens, Hastings Center, NY,

-Respondent: Fredrik Svenaeus, Södertörn University

2:30-3:00pm

Coffee break

3:00-5:00pm

Session 1

Technology and the Body

Session 2

Medicine and the Market

Epistemological and Existential Implications of Consumer Neurotechnologies -Karola Kreitmair, Stanford University	Reflections on the Commodification of Empathy and the Patients who do not Fit into the Empathy Market -Ylva Gustafsson, Åbo University
On Prosthetic Existence: Why Poststructuralism is not a Transhumanism -Susanna Lindberg, University of Helsinki	The Role of Life Advice in Medical Practice -Kerrin Jacobs, Göttingen University
Bionic Bodies: Challenging Disability, Challenging Ability? -Denisa Butnaru, University of Konstanz	The Collapse of Collaboration: A Phenomenological Critique of the Neoliberalization of the Medical Encounter -Martin Gunnarson, Södertörn University
Martin Heidegger and the Bioethics of the Human Body -Morgana Lambeth, Northwestern University	The Phenomenology of Demanding a Diagnosis -Petra Gelhaus, University of Münster

5:00pm

Reception at Ersta

Thursday, June 14th

Morning Session

9:00-10.00am

Keynote B: Of Heart Sink Patients and Powerless Professionals: How to address the sick body when no somatic causes can be found?
-Jenny Slatman, Tilburg University

10:00-10.30am

Coffee break

10:30-12:00pm

Session 3

Education, Ethics, and Clinicians

Session 4

Phenomenology and Soma

The Elephant in the Room: How a Philosophical Analysis of the Electronic Health Record Can Lead to a Better Understanding of its Impact on the Clinical Encounter -Tania Moerenhout, Ghent University	FlashSonar or Echolocation Education: Expanding the Function of Hearing and Changing the Meaning of Blindness -Daniel Kish, Thomas Tajo, Visioneers.org
The Concept of Suffering: A Key to Ethics Teaching in Medical Students? -Rolf Ahlén, Karlstad University	Gut Feelings: Towards a Phenomenology of Irritable Bowel Syndrome -Helena Dahlberg, Gothenburg University -Ida Björkman, Gothenburg University
Understanding the Nature of Medical Training for Junior Doctors: An Interpretive Phenomenological Discourse -Omar Shafey, Furness General Hospital -Richard Law, Furness General Hospital	The Phenomenology of the Diabetic Child's World -Zahara Asagri Lamjiri, University of Isfahan

12:00-1.00pm

Lunch

Thursday, June 14th

Afternoon Session

1:00pm-3:00pm

Session 5

Screening, Risk, and Pregnancy

Session 6

Psychiatry and Psychopathology

Incidental or Secondary Findings: A Patient Perspective on Additional Genetic Findings -Marlies Saelaert, Ghent University	Phenomenological Psychopathology: An Analysis of the Evaluative Dynamics of a Psychopathological Condition or a Critical Enterprise? - Jaakko Vuori, University of Jyväskylä
Phenomenology and Ethics of Pregnancy: The Contributions of Iris Marion Young and Julia Kristeva -Iaria Malagrino, University of Roma Tre	Narrative Identity and Mental Disorder -Alycia Laguardia, University of Connecticut
Prolonging Fertility and Re-Temporalizing the Female Body -Jill Drouillard, Paris Sorbonne IV	Understanding Depression in Treatment -Sanne van Driel, Tilburg University
The Phenomenology of Risk: Prenatal Screening and Down's Syndrome -Matthew Devine, University of Leuven	Phenomenology of the Clinical Encounter: Benefits and Challenges of the Phenomenological Approach to the Psychiatrist's experience -Svetlana Sholokhova, Clinic for Psychiatry Heidelberg

3:00-3:30pm

Coffee break

3:30-4:30pm

Keynote C: Ephemeroid: Human Vulnerability, Transhumanism, and the Meaning of Life

-Michael Hauskeller, University of Liverpool

Friday, June 15th

Morning Session

9:00-10:00am

Keynote D: Phenomenology, Bioethics, and Emergent Normativities: On the need for an ethics of embodiment and entanglement in medicine.
-Kristin Zeiler, University of Linköping

10:00-10:30am

Coffee break

10:30-12:00am

Session 7

Neurodiversity and Behavior

Session 8

Death, Illness, & Donation

Phenomenological Embodiment in Neuro-engineering Endeavors: Philosophical Considerations and Practical Implications -Sadaf Soloukey, Erasmus University, Rotterdam	Conscientious Objection to Medical Aid in Dying: Results from a Qualitative Study -Jocelyn Maclure, Laval University -Isabelle Dumont, Université du Québec
Neurophenomenology: What it can explain about Traumatic Memory -Kate Mehuron, Eastern Michigan University	Death Before Organ Donation: Exploring the Chasm between Lay and Professional Knowledge -Kartina Choong, University of Central Lancashire
Neurodiversity: Feelings in Autistic Experience -Jonna Bornemark, Södertörn University	The Saturated Phenomenon of Illness and the Mineness and Otherness of Body -Māra Grīnfelde, University of Latvia

12:00-1:00 pm

Lunch

Friday, June 15th

Afternoon Session

1:00pm-2:30pm

Session 9 Practice and Ethics

Session 10 Embodiment in Medicine and Illness

A Phenomenological Defense of Sexual Pharmacotherapy -Caitlin Leach, Towson University	Subjective and Objective Time in Illness -Uldis Vēgners, University of Latvia
Apathetic Syndrome in Asylum Seeking Children in Sweden: An Ethical and Phenomenological Study -Ingemar Engström, Örebro University	The Embodiment of Radical Weight Loss: A Phenomenology of Changing "Size" -Elise Doeschot, Tilburg University
Furthering Women's Health Equity: Reconceptualizing "Family Planning" -Elisa Charlene, University of Portland	Phenomenological Cartesianism and Phenomenology of Embodiment in Medicine -Anna Alichniewicz, Medical University of Lodz

2:30-3:00pm

Coffee break

3:00-4:00pm

Keynote E: The Ethical Implications of Jean-Luc Nancy's Social Ontology: Heteronomy, Technological Intrusion and Our Human Condition
- Ignaas Devisch, University of Ghent

4:00-4:15pm

Closing words